Luce

We believe in the power of light.
Light has a significant influence on everyone's mood.
Dull light and lack of shadow are associated with an uninspiring overcast day.
Bright light intensifies emotions and happiness.
Moderate light facilitates rational decisions and agreement.
Warm light, or cozy light, stimulates intimacy and romance.
And you feel instantly at ease.

Whether consciously or not, our brain compares interior lighting with our experience of natural daylight. Beautifully lit interiors magnify their appeal and elegance and generate profound emotional responses.

LIGHT IS THE PROTAGONIST OF
OUR TALES,
AND OF EVERYONE'S LIFE.

“It is the Paradise of cities and there is a moon (...) striking its pure flashes of light against the grey water before the window...”

I feel fresh and young when my foot is on these pavements.”

John Ruskin,
The “Painter of Light”

“All things are literally better, lovelier, and more beloved for the imperfections which have been divinely appointed”

Venezia

If you had the chance of navigating the Grand Canal, you may have noticed an unreasonable diversity of styles, juxtaposed in a manifold yet most elegant way. The stones are worn out by salt and wind, and the facades are skewed to the point of jeopardizing your sense of verticality. The reflection of light on lagoon water epitomizes the eccentric harmony of “La Serenissima”, its islands, and its architecture.

Venezia has been a fascinating melting pot of cultures, art, design, and manufacturing excellence, since the dawn of modern age. The creativity and mastery of Venetian craftsmen are legendary, and still today their works exude an artisanal and cultured charm, subtly eclectic, yet exquisitely sophisticated.

Eclectic design

Brilliant ideas often come from the interlacing of opposites as the heart and the rational mind, just as original and appealing aesthetics often appear upon the blending of diverse, and often conflicting cultures, as Venice witnesses.

In design, indeed, eclecticism is all about harmony, manifold harmony; it is the converging of multiple styles and juxtaposing textures, guided by one aim: to create a cohesive, exclusive, beautiful work.

Our design contains hints of a Venetian provenance and is, thus, eclectic at heart.

Textures of Light

Weaves and reflections

TEXTUM, the latin root to both TEXTILE and TEXT. Textiles are made of interlaced fibers. Texts are made of interlaced words.

LUMEN, the latin word for light, and daylight.

TEXTLUM, Textum + Lumen, our brand name stands for the interlace of light with textiles and other noble materials that our lamps are made of.

A finely orchestrated interplay between our light sources and reflecting surfaces creates eye-catching luminous textures, "textures of light", that eclectically transmit a sense of coziness and elegance to the surrounding interiors.

TEXTLUM designs evoke the enigmatic beauty of Venice through peculiar proportions and subtle details and are tuned for the modern-day lifestyle by taking advantage of cutting-edge LED and Smart technology.

"Design is defined by light and shade (...)"

Albert Hadley

A woman in a white dress is holding a glowing, textured, cylindrical light fixture. The light fixture has a white handle and a white base. The woman is wearing a silver watch with the letters 'ck' on it. The background is a dimly lit room with a large mirror reflecting her. The overall atmosphere is warm and intimate.

Shedding light
when, where,
and how you wish

Eccentrica

Versatile by nature, our battery lamp diffuses a warm, soft, dimmable ambient light. A seamless weave of direct and reflected rays, inspired by light hitting Venetian façades and reflected on water and stone.
